Dear Judith,

It is with great pleasure that I write to you in support for your efforts to extend the Sandwich Range Wilderness in the White Mountains of New Hampshire and to create a National Historic Area for the Sandwich Notch area. The New Hampshire Global Warming Campaign is concerned with issues that pollute our air, poison our water and threaten our lands.

The New Hampshire Global Warming campaign has worked avidly to protect threatened areas of the White Mountain National Forest. Increasing wilderness connects large areas of habitat that will otherwise, if left fragmented, result in the isolation of populations of wide-ranging species. In addition to securing habitat for wildlife, forests clean our air and provide the source for clean drinking water, a commodity to be treasured.

The Friends of the Sandwich Range are to admired for their valiant efforts that will preserve our lands for future generations.

Sincerely,

Jan Pendlebury, Director
New Hampshire Global Warming Campaign
